1 Cut the leather

- Use the hobbyknife and the ruler to cut a strip of leather. About 2.5cm (≈ 1 inch) by 11cm (≈ 4 inches).
- You can use one of the semi circle punches to round off the short sides.

2 Cut out the indents

- Use the semi-circle punch to cut out 2 indents from the side of the strip, about 2,5cm (≈ 5 inch) from one end.
- Make sure that the narrowest part is at least 8mm (≈ 0.3 inches) wide.

3 Add the text

- Use the letter punches to add your text to the leather.

Cut the holes for the rivets

- Use a punch to cut out a hole for the rivet, about 1cm (0.4 inches) from the side of the leather strip.
- Fold the end over and mark the position of the second hole with a marker.
- Punch the second hole.

5 Rivet

- If you have a hammer with round edges, use this when riveting. Using round edges reduces the chance of leaving marks on the leather.
- Place the key-ring, fold over the leather and use a rivet to fix it in place.

6 Burnishing

- This step is optional. It will give your leather nice shiny edges.
- Use an edge beveler to create a beveled edge on both sides.
- Wet the edge of the leather with some water.
- Rub the edge with a burnishing tool until a nice shiny rounded edge has formed.
